KEYNOTE SPEAKER – Toronto Police Services, Deputy Chief, Keith Forde made the following observations in his address to the membership

Deputy Forde greeted the members and thanked the president for the invitation to speak. He applauded the founders for their vision starting the organization and noted that to the community, the JCA is the representative Black Organization, in Ontario if not in Canada.

That position carries with it some responsibility therefore it is important that the JCA develop strong leadership to move the organization forward to the next 45 years.

The JCA must take strong action to ensure that it continues to recruit and train youth for leadership to help move the organization

It is important that youth respect the sacrifices and accomplishments of the older generation and look to them for advice and that the elders look to youth for honesty and truth

When choosing our leaders we must look for the combination of youth and experience

Must take concrete actions to get more people involved in the organization to keep it strong and vital

The JCA must do more to highlight its accomplishments and engage the community

It must communicate its mission and vision to the community so that the community can lend its support.

If not already done so, develop a Strategic Plan to outline where the organization is expected to be in the next 5-10 years

Employ a good strategy to communicate the plan to all stakeholders

There are never any shortage of critics in our community, and we must stop making it so easy to criticize without having alternate solutions.

Minutes of The Annual General Meeting, May 27, 2007

Change is never easy – good leadership is not about being liked or being popular it is about doing the right thing

We must not only look at the challenges for the organization but at the opportunities as well

To remain relevant, the JCA must continue to speak out strongly on such issues as parenting, crime and education, as well as other issues affecting the community, and on the good things as well.

It is important that the JCA continue to be a strong advocate and challenge things that are not good for the community.

The business meeting was reconvened.

OFFICER'S REPORT

10. PRESIDENT

The President reported on the activities of the Jamaican Canada Association (JCA) for the 2006-2007 fiscal year, a year punctuated with successes, challenges and optimism.

We have continued and are continuing on the path of change, transformation and growth to build and strengthen the Association's operations. The Board has set as a priority, its intentions to transform the organization and maintain our commitment to the continued delivery of services and programs to our members and community.

Minutes of The Annual General Meeting, May 27, 2007

In this past year, the JCA was successful in its bid to obtain the role of lead agency in the delivery of the new Youth Outreach Worker Program initiative established by the Ontario Government.

We have also demonstrated growth and success in other areas such as: Our Saturday Morning Tutorial Program which continues to grow in the participation rate both from students and tutors.

Our Scholarship Program continues to experience a healthy growth in participation by students as well as in the recruitment of new sponsors.

We continue to sponsor activities to promote the cultural aspects of the Jamaican, Caribbean and African Canadian community, specifically through the Annual Independence/Anniversary Gala and the Boonoonoonos, while aiming to improve the overall presentation of the events.

We have continued to engage with community partners, public institutions, funders with various other activities and agendas within the Jamaican, Caribbean and African Canadian communities, but also within the broader Canadian context.

Several new staff members joined the JCA staff team, including the Interim Executive Director, Nzinga Walker.

In the area of governance, the task force established to review the constitution, completed its work and the revised constitution was presented to and adopted by the JCA membership. Additionally, a finance committee was established.

One of our toughest challenges this year has been in the area of fundraising. However, a fundraiser is now on board.

In the broader objective, to transform and move the Association forward, the Board with the support of the membership decided in the past year to undertake an organizational review of the Association.

The review is necessary because of the ongoing challenges in the organization

The infrastructure not adequately moving with the growth

We have to decide what to keep, what to change if we want to remain strong and dynamic

The building is no longer a novelty other organizations are also trying to acquire their own building and perhaps some already have

We have an aging membership

We need more skilled people to do the work

We need to have trained leadership ready to take over

The terms of a number of board members have expired and the Association has benefited from the energies, knowledge, time and resources they brought with them. We thank all of them for their contributions to the Association and look forward to working with all former board members.

This year we celebrate The JCA's forty-fifth anniversary. It is against this backdrop of forty-five years of existence that we are poised with eager anticipation to leverage our best effort, collectively and individually, to augment the work of the founders and set the Association on a path of renewed growth and vigour for the next forty-five years!

Our thanks to Joe Boateng for his time stepping into and holding the Interim Executive Director's position until the vacancy was filled.

Motion moved by Bruce McDonald to adopt the President's Report, seconded by Pam Reynolds, none opposed motion carried.

FUNDRAISING REPORT

Overall for this fiscal year, the fundraising initiatives were below expectations, for example, although the Boonoonoonoos attendance seemed significant there were challenges that kept it from being more successful.

The fundraising committee will be preparing a Workplan for the 2007-2008 fiscal year and put in place a plan of action to increase our donor base.

The JCA embarked on a Direct Mail campaign; many of you may have received your packages in the mail, we hope that you have already either sent in your donation or about to do so.

Minutes of The Annual General Meeting, May 27, 2007

We need to put in place a contingency plan in the event of the loss or reduction of any support we now receive from funders.

Through all these challenges the committee continues to have many dedicated volunteers who work hard to raise money through special events and campaigns and this past year we raised a total of $34,3867.00 through several fundraising initiatives.

To build a more sustainable fundraising program for The JCA, a grant from the Trillium Foundation made it possible to hire a professional fundraiser, Jane Rogers. It is anticipated that Jane will work with staff and volunteers to develop long-term fundraising programs so that The JCA can continue its legacy of building strong, healthy families and communities.

The committee will be proceeding with a Raffle or Cruise in 2007/2008 and Mr. Alton Telfer will be the lead on this project. It is anticipated that the draw will take place at a Spring Dance in 2008.

For the fiscal year 2007-2008 the committee proposes to recruit 10 new members. The committee is also seeking membership support for the PENNY DRIVE and appealed to members to bring their pennies when coming to the JCA.
